Standards Clarifies Hankin Suspension

The University Standards Committee has released the following statement:

"On April 10 Ronald Hankin was suspended by the University Standards Office upon the recommendation of the University Standards Committee, which is composed of members of the faculty and administrative staff. He was suspended for multiple violations of the standards established at Brigham Young University.

"Most of the infractions occurred, and investigation was being made prior to the student forum on February 28 when Hankin made allegations regarding the 'Spy Ring' that existed on the BYU campus during the 1965-66 academic year. Hankin's violations and the decision to suspend him were completely unrelated to the 'Spy Ring' incident.

"In fact, the University Standards Committee made its decision only after an unusually careful investigation of Hankin's serious violations because the committee realized there might be misunderstandings and misinterpretations in view of the much-publicized but unrelated 'Spy Ring' allegations."

Concert Seats Available

"There are still good seats available for the Al Hirt concert," according to Larry Lines, Business Office manager. Tickets may be purchased today until 5 p.m. at the ticket office, third floor, Wilkinson Center. Students may buy tickets Saturday night beginning at 6 p.m. at the ticket windows of the fieldhouse. Dance tickets are all sold out.

Voting Ends Today For BYU Offices

Campaigning and voting will continue today for the student body government offices. A possible national collegiate record for voting turnout may be set, according to Lana Thompson, elections committee chairman.

Miss Thompson suggested that increasing the number of booths and the success of Inquiry Week may account for the record number of ballots.

The candidates for ASBYU President are Karl Blake and Paul Gilbert. Campaigning for VP of Culture are Leon Przybyla and Russ Bosh.

VP SEEKERS

For the VP of Academics are Grant Richards and Gordon Walker and seeking the position of VP of Social Activities are George Russ and Mervin Grant.

Seeking the newly established office of VP of Athletic events are Bob Fitch and Jim Nelson. Wally Skindmore and Lee Radebaugh are running for the office of VP of Finance.

Hopeful aspirants to AWS President are Judy Snyder and Susan Stum and for AWS VP are candidates Chris Sproul and Nancy Savage.

Improve D's, E's Now Or Face Suspension

Dean Lambert
Universe Staff Writer

Somewhere a grief-stricken, discouraged, and neurotic student on this campus has just received a "D" grade notice.

Despite the student's agitated state of such a "C-" grade-point average, they will be suspended from the University. All others on probation will be suspended if they receive below a 2.00 or "C" grade average.

Freshman students on probation are reminded that if they receive below a 1.75 or "C-" grade-point average, they will be suspended from the University. All others on probation will be suspended if they receive below a 2.00 or "C" grade average.

Under the new suspension rule, every student on probation must now improve his grades by four grade points each probationary semester. This could require "C-" work if a student were registered for 10 hours. It would also be equivalent to a four-hour "B" if no other grades were below the minimum.

By now, students have received "D" and "E" grade notices indicating that, even though all their other grades are average, they will be suspended from school if these grades do not improve.

Academic Standards also reminds students that, based on last year's semester grades, students who visited their teachers after receiving a mid-semester "D" or "E" did significantly better work the second half of the semester. The more teachers visited, the better were the results.

Other sources of help include the Counseling Service, student advisers, Guided Studies, and the Tutoring Services.

The Kennedy Exploitation Goes On

Nearly four years ago the Kennedy assassination was a subject of world wide interest and concern. The shocking nature of the event, occurring before millions of spectators, and the impact of the loss of America's President made the incident one of unique interest to the world in general.

From the outset unlimited space was devoted to the affair by magazines and newspapers and full reports were carried over radio and television. As the shock began to ebb, cities, states, and nations were moved to memorialize and honor the Kennedy name. Streets and landmarks were rechristened while coins and stamps were minted bearing the Kennedy image.

As the wave of memorialization began to ebb it was swallowed by the rising tide of profiteers who were quick to sense the economic advantage in sustaining the public's sense of involvement and loss over the assassination. Their initial efforts resulted in numerous books and articles which appeared subsequent to Kennedy's death. Many of these offerings have redeeming social and historic significance but the vast majority were undisguised attempts to sensationalize and perpetuate the unhappy incident.

When the public finally began to tire of events associated with the assassination the profiteers initiated their second front—capitalizing on the grief and private lives of other members of the family. They also exploited every possible symbol of Kennedyism.

It took nearly two years for this wave to ebb sufficiently to render it economically unsound. During this time the foundations were being laid for a sustained, though less spectacular, program of "Capitalistic Kennedyism."

The present program has its roots sunk deeply into the public and private lives of the Kennedy Clan. Anything that can carry a sensational connotation is quickly snapped-up and promoted by the purveyors of Kennedyism. An excellent example of this activity is a new publication The Kennedy Letter. The publisher plans to release the 16-page Letter on a monthly basis in order to "keep everyone absolutely up to date on all the family's public works and private lives."

In the midst of this sordid pre-occupation with the name Kennedy, a generation of children are growing up who know little or nothing about a great president by that name, all they hear are reports of vacations, family reunions, hints of romance, or ill-handled scandals. What happened to the dignity and esteem once accorded by our nation to a deceased president? How long will we support "Capitalistic Kennedyism" by providing a market for the profiteers to exploit?

Letter To The Editor

REBUTTAL

Editor:

In regard to Gary Wood's column of April 6, I think it is too bad that he received "hundreds of compliments" regarding his Open Letter to the commissioner of the Western Athletic Conference. I had hoped there weren't so many around here who are afraid to face the facts.

He says that "many sports observers in the area feel strongly that the Cougar basketballers outplayed Wyoming both on the floor as well as on paper (rebounding and shooting statistics)." Why hasn't it occurred to you, Mr. Wood, and to your following of "sports observers," that the only statistic that counts is the final score?

I believe I can speak for the players on our team in saying that we are not ashamed of the way we played against Wyoming. We made mistakes, surely, but we aren't looking for excuses. Mr. Wood seems to completely overlook the fact that just possibly Wyoming had a better basketball team than we did, and in his column of April 6 seemed to try and excuse our loss on prejudiced officials, a prejudice he dreamed up in his head.

The fact is this: the game is over and we on the basketball team are not looking for any excuses, and we certainly don't need yours, Mr. Wood. We are busy preparing for next year's win.

Resentment Spoils Conference

NTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay — In 45 minutes of little Ecuadorian about six months of painful labor designed to make the Inter-American Summit Conference a thing of joy and light, free of every.

There was less surprise over the fact that President Otto Arosemena would have over the pre-conference assumption that the presidents of 20 nations could gather without dispute.

It was supposed to have been so simple.

AVOID CONFRONTATION

The Organization of American States (OAS) and the foreign ministers, including Secretary of State Dean Rusk, had tried to avoid open presidential confrontations by working out agenda items that would be cut and dried for the chief executives.

But resentment was there and Arosemena crystallized it with his attack from the floor against the summit declaration which had been prepared for the signatures of the presidents.

His statements were not particularly personal in tone, but his gaze fell on President Johnson, across the table from him, during most of the speech.

When it ended, Johnson did not join in the applause.

What Arosemena did was to expand on the attitude of Ecuador's representative to the preliminary foreign ministers' meeting last week.

Ecuador then attacked the thinly spread Alliance For Progress and said Arosemena might boycott the summit conference entirely since nothing that was being prepared augured well for rapid economic development. At least as far as Ecuador was concerned.

DID NOT CARE

Dean Rusk made no effort to placate the delegate. He reportedly told him the United States did not care whether Arosemena came to the summit or not.

Not until the last minute was it learned that Arosemena would make the trip.

The meeting in the casino of the hotel San Rafael afforded him the platform to bring the basic issue out in the open.

There is no doubt that Arosemena's feelings are shared by officials of other nations. The hitch remains U. S. refusal to ease the pressures on aid and trade. It galls Quito and other capitals that they cannot operate with U. S. aid without conditions — most specifically where they spend the money.

One is Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., who defeated Douglas. His position on the bill is not known, but the other new face, Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., played an active role as Massachusetts Attorney General in gaining passage of the first state law requiring creditors to disclose a true annual interest rate.

ACCEPT MYTH DEMISE

Douglas said, "People are more sophisticated about credit and are no longer likely to rise up in anger over the death of the 'six per cent myth' — a reference to the fact that actual interest charges in consumer installment buying often are much higher than 6 per cent."

The Administration's endorsement came from Treasury Undersecretary Joseph W. Barr and from William B. Camp, Comptroller of the currency. Barr said "poorly informed consumers, or even well-informed consumers who are unable to communicate effectively in the market because of the jumbled terminology, cannot be good citizens in a free economy."

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Paul H. Douglas returned to Hill Thursday to appeal for passage of the "truth-in-lending" bill at the unsuccessfully championed during 18 years as Democraticator from Illinois. Douglas told his former colleagues on the Senate Banking Committee the measure was a bill that no longer faced political barriers. He said he was "deeply disappointed in the fact when the bill was blocked by leadership on the committee."

COST OF CREDIT — bill would require creditors to inform consumers of the actual cost of credit as well as the annual percentage rate, including all such costs as fees and credit charges.

He said it was the November election in which Douglas lost his chance to have the bill passed. He said it never had before. He said the once-solid Republican opposition on the panel has loosened. He said that two committee news hold the key.

Organ Students Plan Concert

Organ students of J.J. Keeler, BYU organist and Parley L. Belmont, assistant professor of music, will play selections from "Organ Booklet" (Little Organ Book) by J.S. Bach Monday at 8:15 p.m. in the Provo Tabernacle.

PARTICIPATING

They will play New Year, Lent, Easter and Pentecost sections from the Little Organ Book. The four-part chorale will be sung by the Chamber Choir, conducted by Robert Downs, assistant professor of the music at BYU. This will be followed by the Chorale-Prelude for organ.

Bach entered the musical world as an organist and it was for the organ that his first major compositions were written. The two main forms were free compositions and settings of chorale melodies. A variant of the chorale prelude, Bach's Little Organ Book is a chorale fantasy. This is an enlarged form where the lines of the chorale are separated by musical interludes.

This collection of chorale preludes was unfinished.

Bach built on the centuries-old traditions of German organ music but he raised the chorale prelude to a high point directly against the spirit of the 18th century.

Students and the general public are invited to attend the free recital.

Midday Music Features Duets

Music at Midday will feature piano music and instrumental duets today at noon in the Madmen Recital Hall.

"Sonata No. 14, op. 27, no. 2" played by Kayla Helton on piano will be first on the program. This Beethoven number will be followed by Piston's "Duo" played by Stanley Green, cello, and David Hamilton, viola.

Smaller's "Allegro spiritoso" will next be played by Aranth Freeman, bassoon. David Hamilton, will perform again, this time with Alex Sutherland on bassoon in Spitsak's "Duetto Concertante." The last two numbers on the program are "Orlando" by Barak played by Fred Starky, trumpet, and Joyce Wilkinson, piano, and "Pascaglia" by Piston played by Evelyn Rogers, pianist.

'Cyrano de Bergerac' Is Poetic Drama

By Robert G. Nelson

Universe Music Critic

The play "Cyrano de Bergerac," in movie form, is currently playing at the University Cinema.

The real Cyrano de Bergerac was born in Paris in the year 1619. He enlisted in a Gascon company and became known as "le daim du de la bravoure." He distinguished himself by his courage on the battlefield, and was always ready to fight anyone who insulted him.

Bergerac was a good writer and even Moliere is reputed to have plagiarized from him. The real Bergerac was touchy about his large nose. After the war, he retired to writing plays and romances. He was killed by a heavy piece of wood falling upon him, presumably brought by one of his many enemies.

Edmond Rostand used a rich source of historical facts and produced this play in 1897. Most of the characters are real people from history so the play really has life. It is a poetic, romantic, drama.

The film version of this play is well done and probably does more toward making the characters live than the legitimate theater could. On stage the voices are hollow projected things without beauty.

In the movie version all the subtle tones of speech can be brought out. This is necessary as Bergerac was romantic and melodiously verbose.

The casting is excellent with Jose Ferrer, and Mala Powers. The sets and costumes are well done, giving ing that touch of realism that can not be effectively done in the legitimate theater.

Concert Slated

The University Chorus will present its annual Spring Concert tonight at 8:15 p.m. in the de Jong Concert Hall.

The program will feature a number of songs with Kristine Comendand and Walter Whipple as featured soloists.

"Holy Art Thou" Handel will start off the program. This is followed by "Sheep May Safely Graze" by Bach; "Christ Went Up into the Hills" by Hageman with Miss Monendand as soprano soloist, and "Alleluia, 'Christ is Risen'" by Kopyloff.

Mr. Whipple will play an organ solo followed with the group singing numbers by Fletcher, Bach, Cain, Enders and Hanson.

Haller's arrangement of "Green-sleeves" and numbers by Kirk, Clockey, Dolph and Cassey will be included in the next section of the program which will close with "I Bought Me a Cat" by Copland and "Crazy Cantata" by Bennett.

Philadelphia Orchestra In SLC

Philadelphia Orchestra, one of America's oldest and most venerable musical ensembles, will give its first concert in the Salt Lake Tabernacle on June 10, as part of its national tour.

Ormandy, who is completing his 31st year as conductor of the orchestra and who resigned a life contract for good.

JOINT AUSPICES

With previous appearances in Philadelphia, the Philadelphia Orchestra, the Salt Lake Tabernacle Choir and the symphony. Tickets will go on sale at 10 a.m. at the Utah Office at Bennett's 551 South. Mail orders will be accepted.

The Philadelphia Orchestra will be the first to make recordings under its own name with its own conductor.

On its next visit in the fall of 1964 the Orchestra gave two highly successful concerts in the Tabernacle on consecutive evenings.

LEADING INSTITUTION

From its first concert on November 16, 1900, the Philadelphia Orchestra has been one of the world's leading artistic institutions. Paul Henry Lang of the New York Herald-Tribune described it as "the solid gold Cadellae of eastern orchestras."

Eugene Ormandy and his predecessor, Leopold Stokowski, are credited with having built the Philadelphia Orchestra into a world renowned ensemble. Ormandy's unique contribution has been in developing the so-called "Philadelphia Orchestra sound," characterized by one of the finest string sections anywhere.

The Philadelphia Orchestra was the first to make recordings under its own name with its own conductor.

(1917). It was the first major orchestra to broadcast over a radio network for a commercial sponsor (Philo, 1929). It was the first symphonic organization to be televised nationally (CBS-TV, 1948). It was the first to be featured in films (The Big Broadcast of 1937).

WAC Play Begins For BYU Linksmen

by Randy Koernig
Assistant Sports Editor

The Brigham Young University golfers, riding a three-match victory string in dual competition, will kick off the 1967 Western Athletic Conference season today at 1 p.m. when they take on the University of Utah at the Riverside Country Club in Provo.

A win over the rival Utes would certainly get the Cougars—WAC golf champs in 1965—off on the right foot in their bid to successfully defend their title. Last year BYU was undefeated in WAC play. Overall the Cougars were 10-0 in dual match competition.

Y 3-0

So far this year Coach Karl Tucker's squad is 3-0 in dual competition, in their initial outing the Cougars nipped highly regarded San Diego, 16-11, in California. At home BYU has routed Weber State, 27-0, and also disposed of BYU's Alumni All Stars, 33-12.

The Y will be represented by several of the stars from last year's team. Among the returnees are Mike Taylor and John Miller. This pair won recognition last year as honorable mention All Americans.

TAYLOR INJURED

Taylor has been suffering from an injury lately and so far has not really played up to his potential. Miller, on the other hand, appears to be as good as, if not better than, last year. In the Masters Tournament last week, Miller finished with a 305 total. As a professional this would have netted him $1,300.

Another golfer who appears headed for great things is John Evans. The talented senior from Spanish Fork has shot par golf in the Cougars' two wins over Weber State and the Alumni All Stars. He was medalist in both contests. Next on the Cougars' schedule is the Sun Devil Classic in Tempe, Ariz., April 21-22. This will be BYU's second tournament outing of the year. Coach Tucker's charges were fifth in the Far Western intercollegiate last month at Santa Cruz, Calif.

Player Of The Week...

Cougar Golfer Featured

by Gary Wood
Universe Sports Editor

(Editor's Note—Each week an outstanding BYU athlete is featured in these pages. This week John Miller, Cougar golfer, is the recipient of a haircut from the Williams Center Barber Shop in a dress shirt from Rebe's Clothing Store in Provo.)

"Johnny Miller is as good as any player I saw in the Masters Tournament." BYU golf coach Karl Tucker is lavish in his praise of the 10-year-old Cougar standout.

"Of course," he adds, "John doesn't have as much savvy as the pros, but he plays as well as the best of them."

Miller, from San Francisco, finished the Augusta, Ga. tourney as the seventh highest amateur, and outlasted such famous names as Jack Nicklaus, Bob Goalby and Johnny Pott, all of whom failed to make the final cut.

The talented number one BYU golfer was invited to participate in the prestigious Masters because of his eighth place finish in last year's U.S. Open, in which he was the low amateur.

Miller also won the 1964 junior championship of the United States Golf Association and helped BYU to the championship of the Western Athletic Conference last season.

He ranks among the very select few amateurs who have played the exclusive Masters course.

The blond better is majoring in business.

ingham Young University's ball team begins a three-game series with the University of Utah in the Western Athletic Conference bid-offer on the BYU diamond. Game time is 2:30 p.m. double-header featuring these two teams will begin Saturday at 1 p.m. at Derks Stadium in Lake City.

TOP FORM

Senior mentor Glen Tuckett has been in top form for the conference debut. The Cougars have eight-game win streak in their series, which includes twin-bill games from the University of Utah at Berkeley, College of the Southwestern, Mesa College, and Westminster College of Salt Lake.

Cat nine has been bolstered by 303 team batting average, one of the best in the nation. Five players have earned-run averages of 2.42, with lefty Jim Englehardt leading the hurlers with an .812 ERA.

Englehardt (5-1) and right-hander Bob Federaro (4-2) are probable starters against the Utes, with the other call going to knuckleballer Fred Cavaglia, Ken Crosby or Duane Gustafson.

NORDQUIST STARTS

Utah is expected to go with its all-conference pitcher John Nordquist, along with Brad Conley and George Allen as starters in the other two games.

The Redskins will depend heavily on the hitting of outfielder Dave Edmonds, third-baseman Jerry Pullman, and first-sacker Steve Radulovich. All three of these players hit above the .300 mark last season.

Countering for Cougars will be Gerald Cardon, a sophomore, who is leading his teammates with a .450 average. Third-baseman Dennis Lamb is second in batting with a .388 average.

PUMAS ANXIOUS

Also anxious to give Utah's pitchers a hard time are Steve Davis, shortstop, who has a .378 batting mark; catcher Dick Clark, .370; and outfielder Tom Fife, last year's WAC batting champion with a .308 average.

Other Cougars who are expected to see action this weekend are Paul Eldridge, catcher; Gary Pullins, second-base; and outfielders Ken Nielsen, Larry Romney and Jerry Scheurn.

BE SURE THE DIAMOND YOU CHOOSE IS THE RIGHT ONE FOR HER. Let us take the time to show you the true value of any specific Diamond.

 We're proud of you."
 The next performance for "Holitoday in Salt Lake City.

HOLIDAY REVIEW

"Holiday" portrays the spirit of each section of the USA as the performers sing and dance their way through such representative favorites as "Chicago," "It's A Grand Night," "San Francisco," "Oklahoma," and "Up The Lazy River."
 A fan-sy duet with Mickey and Minnie Mouse introduces the Disneyland medley, featuring Alice and the White Rabbit, "When You Wish Upon a Star," and lovable-but de-spiteable Siamese Cats.

Costumes depicting holiday jaunts into the Midwest and South are brilliantly accented by fluorescent cloth and ultra-violet lighting as the troupe coasts through tap dance and ballroom numbers.

Duets, solos, trios and quartets highlight the fast-paced trek across the country. The famous Ballroom
 Dancers also contribute routines.

Augmenting the tone of the entire show are selections from such Broadway hits as "My Fair Lady,"
 "Fiddler on the Roof," "Guys and Dolls," "Annie Get Your Gun,"
 "Music Man," and "South Pacific."

The most captivating part of the show is the patriotic finale. This includes the entire cast in song and dance interpretation of modern-day patriotism.

Program Bureau representatives Sharon Skousen, Ruby Wind and Bill Raventos (right) present President Wilkinson a thank you card for his support at their Houston performance.

BEACH PARTY-GOERS HOPE FOR LOW TIDES

Unless storm-loosened waters or tidal waves threaten at Utah Lake, beach party activities will amuse BYU students from early afternoon until dusk. They will include dancing, races, games, rides and a water show. Surfers will probably be disappointed, since the lake is not noted for its breakers.

Church School Administrator . . .

Taylor To Address P. E. Club

Harvey L. Taylor, administrator of Church Schools, will address the Recreation Education Majors Club today at 11 a.m. in 287 Richards Bldg.

Taylor graduated from the University of Utah and received his M. A. degree at Columbia University. He did graduate work at Stanford University and State Teachers College, Greeley, Colorado. He received an honorary L.L.D. degree from Arizona State University.

As church school administrator, Taylor heads the educational programs for the Church College of Hawaii, Ricks College, elementary and secondary schools in Mexico, South America, and South Pacific; LDS Business College, and Seminaries and Institutes of Religion.

His past educational experiences have been varied. He has been an instructor at the Weber Academy and Weber College and was the president of Gila Junior College in Thatcher, Arizona. He served as the principal of Mesa High School and then acted as the Superintendent of the Mesa public schools.

More recently, Taylor has been a Vice President of BYU and a Vice Chancellor and acting Chancellor of the Unified Church School System. He has taught at BYU and Arizona State during the summers.

His community activity has covered a multiplicity of areas, including 49 years with the Boy Scouts of America. He was awarded the Silver Beaver Award for his work in that organization. In Mesa he worked with the Planning Board, Health Council, Civic Center Committee, Little Theater Board, and State Defense Council.

He has published articles in several magazines including the LDS Millennial Star, the Improvement Era, National School Activities Magazine, Southwestern Magazine and the Arizona Parent-Teacher Magazine.

Give him something to look for a job in.

You've given him an education. And he's made the grade. Now he has to face the world. Is he ready? You can give him one small, dependable thing to help push him along life's road (or freeway): a Volkswagen. A VW is great for following up job leads. It overages 29 mpg. Probably will never need oil between changes. Guaranteed not to heat up...or use anti-freeze. And its tires will go 35,000 miles. Even insurance costs less. A VW is the perfect graduation gift. Its economy features go on and on even after he has a job. So, give the kid a VW. He'll love it, and you'll feel better knowing there's a dependable VW carrying him to his place in the sun.
